Editor The Star: While working in the hills of southern Missouri this Summer I have been kept abreast of developments on the national scene in part by clippings from Hope Star which my mother has sent me.

By far the most interesting bit I have received was the exchange presented in your editorial column representing the views of the older and younger generations concerning the 1972 Democratic convention. My opinion in this matter will probably go unnoticed because of its lack of radical edge; however, I do contend that it should be presented if for no other reason than that of giving the people a position from which all can work for the betterment of our society.

As I recall, Mr. Jones presented himself, to my way of thinking, as an uncompromising pseudo-pragmatic with an overblown superiority complex, while Mr. Young, while I am sure he is sincere in his innocent view of national politics, is much too idealistic and is as unbending as Mr. Jones in his own right.

The fact that these two people have expressed their ideas is not to be condemned by any means, but the fact that they were expressed will be of no value if the readers of your paper and the citizens of our country can not come up with a middle-ground practical and workable alternative to the two extremes which were previously presented in The Star.

Fire kills eight

BOSTON (AP) — Five children and three women perished in a fire which swept through a tenement building early today, fire officials reported.

Two other children were burned seriously.

Police identified the dead as: Maria Gomes, 24, and her children Michael, 1; Gina, 3; James, 4; Anthony, 5, and Zire, 8.

The other two dead women were identified as Alberta Carvalho, 60, and Catherine Ahern, 70.

The injured children, reported in serious condition at Boston City Hospital, were identified by police as Balbina Andrade, 5, and Candida Andrade, 3.

Armando Gomes, the father of the dead children, was taken to the hospital for treatment for shock.

Two firemen, Capt. John Howe, 65, and Frederic Finn, 55, were hospitalized and treated for smoke inhalation.

Police said the Gomes family lived on the second floor of the 2½-story wood frame building

'Honeymoon' in Korea is ended

SEOUL (AP) — A brief political honeymoon between the governments of North and South Korea appears to have ended in a deadlock over arrangements for negotiations to unite families separated by the division of the peninsula.

It was just July 4 that the two governments surprised their own people as well as the outside world by announcing agreement to work peacefully for reunification.

They even agreed to abandon abusive words while pursuing their diplomatic goals, and each stopped calling the other a puppet regime.

Two weeks later, after nearly a year of quibbling over technicalities, the two Korean Red Cross organizations agreed to get down to business on Aug. 5 and meet alternately in Seoul and Pyongyang, the Korean capitals. Then 10 days before the scheduled first session, the two sides hit a snag. Each insisted that the first session be held in its capital, then Pyongyang proposed that political and social leaders be invited to the first meetings in each capital.

The South reacted

vehemently to this and called on the North not to attempt to inject politics into a humanitarian matter.

It was also reported that the North balked at Seoul's proposal to allow a large group of foreign and Korean news representatives to cover the talks.

Two private meetings failed to produce agreement, and the full-dress meeting has been postponed indefinitely.

Premier Kim Jong-il accused the North of trying to turn the negotiations into a political forum.

North Korea charged South

Korea with delaying tactics.

Sources in Seoul believe North Korea is slowing the pace of Red Cross talks in an attempt to increase the chances of a resolution on Korea reaching the coming U.N. General Assembly.

Sponsored by Algeria and other pro-Pyongyang nations, the resolution calls for disbanding the U.N. watchdog committee on Korea. South Korea contends that U.N. debate on the resolution would upset the dialogue between North and South Korea.

Shriver was the backstop running-mate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver, who waited eagerly in the wings for everybody else to say no, was George McGovern's backstop running-mate for several days before he was invited to join the Democratic ticket.

Aides and personal friends of Shriver were told that if Sen. Edmund S. Muskie didn't want to run for vice president the job would fall to Shriver.

"There's still light," McGovern's national political director, Frank Mankiewicz, advised Shriver operatives Friday night. He had word that Muskie just might decline. "We're trying to move it from Kennebunk Port to Hyannis Port," he said.

Muskie returned to Kennebunk to discuss the offer with his wife, Jane. He delivered his turnaround Saturday morning.

Shriver, a youthful looking 56, was vacationing at the Kennedy compound in Massachusetts and was playing tennis when McGovern placed a telephone call to welcome him aboard.

The presidential nominee got a busy signal. The connection was made a few minutes later, at 11:50 a.m. Shriver said "yes" and then went off sailing.

Later, Shriver disclosed that he had talked to McGovern Thursday afternoon. McGovern asked him if he would be interested in the job if Muskie declined. Shriver said he certainly would be.

For a group of lawyers and congressional aides pushing Shriver's cause, the second call was the perfect climax to a fast-moving sequence of events.

Shriver's name was well down on a list of possible replacements for Missouri Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton who gave up the nomination because of controversy over his medical history. But the list dwindled rapidly as those asked turned thumbs down.

Then Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey also rejected the vice-presidential offer and Shriver's political supporters realized they had a good chance.

Wednesday night, Shriver's closest backers met to launch a serious campaign for him.

On Friday morning Shriver received a hopeful telephone call from Mankiewicz, saying "it was possible but not probable" that he'd be the nominee.

Shriver aides continued the stream of telephone calls to potential backers.

After the announcement, Shriver sighed: "I never thought I would survive the list."

Shriver cramming for 'role'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anxious to energize his crisis-delayed presidential campaign, Sen. George McGovern is giving Sargent Shriver a cram course on how best to fill the running-mate role so many others have shunned.

Shriver, the 56-year-old Kennedy in-law, lawyer, businessman and former diplomat, appeared the very picture of an eager student. He vowed Sunday to take his first campaign for elective office directly to the people and to refocus the image of America he said has been "blurred and darkened" by 3½ years of Republican rule.

Receiving a parade of McGovern aides and advisers at Timberlawn, the spacious estate he leases in suburban Maryland, Shriver reported he had been given the blessing of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and fully expects complete Daley support for the ticket.

The meetings among the staff, advisers, friends and candidates themselves began in early morning and continued into the night. They were described as getting-to-know-you efforts, to work out the office space, staff requirements and travel plans of the Shriver part of the campaign.

"We want to get him on the road by Thursday at the latest," a McGovern staff member said, indicating that, at first, Shriver would be concentrating on the nation's largest cities and on such issues as foreign policy and welfare.

Shriver has intimate acquaintance with both subjects, drawing on experience obtained as U.S. ambassador to France, the first head of the Peace Corps and the director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

He showed no unhappiness at his relatively low placing on McGovern's list of vice-presidential possibilities and said he is looking forward to his meeting Tuesday night with the Democratic National Committee.

Barring the unexpected, the committee will proceed to nominate Shriver just as the Democratic National Convention last month approved McGovern's choice of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton as the vice-presidential nominee.

Sharing a lunch of barbecued hamburgers and hot dogs with newsmen, Shriver said he was able to tell McGovern, without reservation, that there was nothing in his past that could embarrass either the candidate or the party.

And referring to the now-famous question asked Eagleton at Miami Beach, he laughed and said: "If there are any skeletons in my closet, I hope I get their full support."

Eagleton formally withdrew from the race July 31 after contending for a week with the political storm raised by his disclosure that he had been a psychiatric patient three times in the 1960s and had received electric-shock treatment for depression.

When McGovern asked him about the skeletons, Shriver said, he replied that he couldn't think of anything that might adversely affect the ticket's chances of success.

Shriver was on Cape Cod when McGovern called Saturday and offered the nomination.

Shriver's first mission after flying back to Washington late Saturday was a midnight visit to the gravesites of his two slain brothers-in-law, President John F. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Sunday, he said he was pleased to have the enthusiastic support of his mother-in-law, Rose Kennedy, and the surviving brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

The presidential nominee met Shriver for a picture-taking session in late afternoon and spent some time planning his Tuesday address to the Miami convention of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters union.

'Mean' thief takes dying man's watch

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Shelbyville woman says a thief took her last $225 and her dying husband's watch when she fell asleep during an all-night vigil for her husband at a hospital.

"It's beyond me why anyone would want to take the money and watch with my husband lying down the hall, dying," Mrs. Mary Warren said. "I just hope that whoever took it needs it a lot more than I do."

She said relatives brought her husband's Social Security and disability checks Friday to help her pay for her stay in Nashville and her husband's stay in St. Thomas Hospital.

"I cashed the checks and put the money and his watch in the zipper compartment of my pocketbook," she recalled. "I had been trying to stay up all night in the waiting room down the hall from my husband in case something happened to him during the night."

She said she dozed periodically Friday night and finally fell asleep about 4:30 a.m. Saturday.

She said when she awoke about 6 a.m., she noticed the zipper compartment open and found the money and the watch missing.

The watch is more important than the money, she said, because it is one of her husband's most prized possessions.

My husband's passin' on, and I have five children at home, no groceries, bills to pay and nothing to pay them with," Mrs. Warren said. "The only income I have is my husband's Social Security and disability. I just don't know what I'm gonna do."

Meanwhile, she continued her 24-hour vigil. Her husband is in the hospital's intensive care unit. He was in critical condition late Sunday night, but hospital officials would not disclose the nature of his illness.

Cambodians receive aid from planes

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command sent scores of American warplanes into Cambodia Sunday and today to aid beleaguered Cambodian forces facing North Vietnamese tanks for the first time.

The command announced that U.S. Marine and Air Force jets flying from Bien Hoa Air Base, 15 miles northeast of Saigon, destroyed 14 Soviet T54 medium tanks along the Saigon-Phnom Penh Highway 14 miles inside the Cambodian border.

It was one of the biggest tank kills claimed in the four-month-old North Vietnamese offensive.

The tanks were knocked out as they tried to encircle the Cambodian town of Kompong Trabek, about 65 miles west of Saigon. The North Vietnamese appeared to be trying to secure the highway, a key route for troops and supplies to South Vietnam's northern Mekong Delta, where a big Communist buildup is reported under way.

In North Vietnam, U.S. Navy jets attacked the Loi Dong transshipment point and storage depot four miles northwest of Haiphong, and pilots reported their bombs set off large orange fireballs and blackened the area with thick smoke.

Meanwhile, the South Vietnamese Defense Ministry announced that Defense Minister Nguyen Van Vy, 56, has been fired and forced into retirement because of embezzlement from the savings fund to which soldiers were forced to contribute. Seven colonels also were relieved of command, and Vy was put under house arrest to prevent him leaving the country.

Premier Tran Thien Khiem took over the defense ministry.

Committee meeting to open today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee today opens an extraordinary three-day meeting to nominate a running-mate for presidential candidate George McGovern.

But first the party must decide a number of seating disputes, and probably one involving a slate headed by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

Chicago Alderman William S. Singer, who led a successful fight to unseat the Daley delegation at the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach last month, said he would file a challenge today against the mayor's Illinois slate of committee members.

Some forces in the party were talking of a compromise that would avoid antagonizing Daley again. Daley, who has not been an avid McGovern backer, has welcomed McGovern's recommendation of Sargent Shriver as the vice-presidential nominee.

Challenges have been filed by dissidents in Wisconsin, New Jersey, Ohio and Virginia, and New York Democrats have been given until midnight tonight to say whether they plan to lodge a challenge with the nine-member Credentials Committee.

The full national committee meets at 2 p.m. Tuesday to nominate a replacement for Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton. He quit the ticket July 31 because of the public discussion arising out of his disclosure that he had undergone shock treatment for mental depression in the 1960s.

The fight over seating the Illinois members of the national committee stems directly from the Miami Beach convention where Singer's 59-member group replaced Mayor Daley's delegation.

Under the new rules by which the Democratic National Committee was expanded from 110 to 303 members, members are chosen by the state's delegation to the previous national convention or, in some states, by joint action of the convention delegates and the state executive committee.

The complication in Illinois is that, although the Singer slate was seated at Miami Beach, a Cook County judge last week ousted Singer's challenge group from the Illinois convention which was choosing DNC members and put Daley's forces back into the delegation.

The six additional DNC members from Illinois were elected as part of a coalition constructed by Daley and a McGovern operative, the Rev. James M. Wall. In contrast to Daley's Miami Beach slate, his Illinois delegation to the DNC complies with party guidelines encouraging minority representation.

McGovern picks up some endorsements from labor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern has picked up endorsements for his Democratic bid for the White House from leaders of labor unions with some 6 million workers, while President Nixon has the backing of labor chiefs representing 2.4 million, an Associated Press survey shows.

Leaders of the nation's remaining 10 million union workers and AFL-CIO President George Meany are sitting on the fence for the first time in nearly two decades.

But labor-political experts draw widely differing views on the value of labor's political endorsements when the average worker closes the curtain in the polling booth.

"Anybody who thinks we're monolithic and that our members are going to vote a certain way just because we say so is crazy," said a spokesman for the 900,000-member AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, whose executive board endorsed McGovern.

President Frank E. Fitzsimmons of the 2.1-million-member Teamsters, the nation's largest union, contends

Poll shows voters favor Demos

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Voters feel the Democratic party is better able to handle the nation's serious problems than the Republican party, according to the latest Gallup Poll. 6

The poll, released Sunday, showed the Democrats holding a 53 to 47 per cent lead. They actually tallied 34 per cent and the GOP 28, but Gallup divided the remaining 38 per cent undecided equally between the two parties.

Twenty-five per cent of the voters said the Vietnam war was the most serious issue, while 23 per cent cited the high cost of living.

The Democratic party's edge in public confidence contrasts with President Nixon's 19-point lead in popularity over Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic presidential candidate.

The Gallup organization said the disparate results might indicate "many voters may be taking a 'wait and see' attitude regarding McGovern's stance on key issues. This is perhaps the principal reason why one Democrat in every three currently withholds support from McGovern."

In a poll taken in July 1968, Nixon held a similar wide edge over Hubert H. Humphrey and the Republicans led the Democrats by 52 to 48 per cent.

In August 1968, the GOP lead stretched to 56 to 44 per cent popularity lead nearly disappeared while his party's margin narrowed to 53 to 47 per cent.

The war was also considered the most serious problem in 1968, but by twice as many persons. Fifty-two per cent selected the war and 29 per cent chose crime-lawlessness in that poll.

Crime-lawlessness was the third most frequently cited problem in the current survey, but only 10 per cent chose it. Nine per cent named drug use

MANILA (AP) — The waters from the worst flood in Philippine history continued to recede today, but officials warned that the threat of cholera would increase unless the population "learned the basics of sanitation" as safe drinking water grew scarcer.

Five more deaths today from the disease pushed the total to 108 since July 1 and brought the toll in central Luzon and the Manila area to at least 435 dead from drowning, landslide or disease.

Health teams from the U.S. military, the United Nations and the Philippines have inoculated more than 200,000 persons against cholera, typhoid and dysentery, but Health Secretary Clemente Gatmaitan said 6 million need the shots.

75 couples wed in mass wedding rites

BOLINAS, Calif. (AP) — As a 15-piece band belted out rock music and wedding waltzes, 75 young couples, many of them former drug addicts, tied the knot at a mass wedding ceremony.

The marriage festival was staged Sunday at the Synanon ranch in the golden hills of Northern California. The ceremony took place at a riding ring.

The brides and grooms were residents of Synanon centers throughout California, as were most of their 2,000 guests.

Synanon Foundation Inc., most widely known for its efforts to rehabilitate drug addicts, has set up seven living groups in California and Michigan.

Though most Synanon residents are former addicts and alcoholics, some have joined the groups because they wanted to take part in the communal life style.

All the couples had been legally married in the past year, but none had a wedding ceremony. They said they waited until it could be performed before the Synanon community.

"These kids shared their hell with the community when they were going off drugs," said one Synanon resident. "Now they want to share their happiness."

The wedding festival had a 19th-century nostalgic touch. The brides wore picture hats and long, old-fashioned summer gowns of muslin, linen and chintz. Some twirled parasols.

The grooms, sporting new-grown beards, wore starched denim overalls and dress shirts, with carnations in their buttonholes.

The guests, also attired in 1800s dress, watched from bleachers as the wedding began with a flourish of trumpets.

Eleven horsemen galloped down from a nearby hill and paraded around the oval ring.

A 100-voice choir, made up of young addicts recently arrived at Synanon to kick their habit, sang "Shenandoah."

Then came the wedding march.

Arm in arm, the couples strolled around the ring, smiling and waving at cheering friends and family.

The frivolity ended when the Rev. C. Mason Harvey, in top hat and tails, mounted a podium and started the ceremony.

"Marriage means 'to be joined with.' We also join with you," he said. "We say to you that we care for you, we love you."

The couples formed three circles and danced a minuet and the ceremony was over — almost. The guests took their turn.

They jumped off the bleachers and gathered in the middle of the ring, swaying in unison to the throbbing of hard rock music.

The couples and their guests stood in line for the wedding feast, which included 600 pounds of beef, three lambs and a pig.

Shriver: A solid candidate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver, who is expected to be confirmed as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee Tuesday night, carries solid political credentials even though he will be making his first bid for elective office.

The 56-year-old Shriver played a major role in the political campaign of President John F. Kennedy, was a key member of both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, and barnstormed for Democratic congressional candidates in 1970.

It was no secret he wanted a shot at higher office, and presidential candidate George McGovern gave him the chance on Saturday by picking him to replace Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton on the Democratic ticket this fall.

Shriver brings to the ticket at least a hint of the charm associated with the Kennedy family name. He is married to the former Eunice Kennedy, eldest daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy and sister of the late president.

He worked in John F. Kennedy's 1960 campaign where he set up a civil-rights division. The late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy later credited Shriver's role with helping give the president his slim margins in some industrial states.

President Kennedy turned to Shriver to head the new Peace Corps, the job for which he is probably most remembered.

On the strength of that experience, President Lyndon B. Johnson named him to head the Office of Economic Opportunity and the War on Poverty.

Gov. Wallace not expected to endorse him, Rep. Schmitz says

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The American party's presidential nominee says he does not expect to receive the endorsement of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

Rep. John G. Schmitz, an ultra-conservative from California and a former Republican, added that he does not expect Wallace to participate in this year's election or endorse any candidate.

Wallace, paralyzed from the waist down due to an assassination attempt May 15, founded the American party in 1968 and was its candidate for president that year.

Schmitz said at the party's national convention, which wound up over the weekend, that Wallace recently told him in a telephone conversation that "John, you are one of my favorite people."

Schmitz's choice for vice president, Thomas Jefferson Anderson, was nominated at the conclusion of the convention Saturday. Anderson is a Tennessee weekly newspaper editor. Like Schmitz, he is a member of the right-wing John Birch Society.

Schmitz said the party would be on the ballots of at least 35

MRS. OTIS WILSON BLACKWOOD

Miss Hodges is wed in Saturday rite

Miss Rebecca Susan Hodges became the bride of Otis Wilson Blackwood, Saturday evening, August 5, at Park Hill Baptist Church in North Little Rock. A reception honoring the couple followed at the church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis D. Hodges of North Little Rock and Mr. and Mrs. Otis A. Blackwood, of Fulton.

Dr. Ruebin South performed the ceremony. Music was presented by organist, Mrs. Jim Raymick and soloists, Mr. and Mrs. Duke Dougan. Bill Rowland and Bill Cox lit the candles.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie with an overlay organza skirt. The bodice was of chantilly lace featuring a high neckline and fitted lace sleeves. The A-line skirt swept to a chapel train and was bordered with deep lace scallops. Her veil of illusion was adorned with silk flowers and seed pearls. Atop a white Bible, she carried a bouquet of white phalanges and stephanotis and baby's breath with greenery.

Miss Judy Clowers was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Susanne Anglias, Mrs. Pat Carlton, Mrs. Sharon Witt, and Mrs. Donita Rotton. Judy McDonald served as flower girl.

Brian Gosl served as best man. Groomsmen were Steve Peoples, Tim Melton, Ev Martindale, and Gary Kimberling. Steve McDonald was ring bearer. Ushers were Miller, Bill Rowland and Bill Box.

After a trip to New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. Blackwood will reside in Fayetteville where he will continue his studies at the University of Arkansas.

HELEN BOTTLE

All Signs Indicate "No"

DEAR HELEN:

I'm not a teenager, and naturally I'd like to be married, but I'm beginning to wonder: After eight months of being engaged, my fiancé is still so jealous I can't even talk to the husband of a friend when we're out as a foursome.

I've had to throw out all my dresses he feels are too short, and buy a one piece swimsuit because he doesn't want men seeing me so "bare."

When I have a lunch date with the girls at the office, he accuses me of meeting another man.

I realize that if he hadn't caught his ex-wife with her lover, he wouldn't have this problem, but when even psychiatry doesn't help, will my patience have a chance? In spite of therapy, he's getting worse.

He says marriage will put all those bad memories out of his mind.—WOULD IT?

DEAR W.I.:

More likely, marriage to him might put YOU out of your mind! If psychotherapy can't help, then I'd guess his problem didn't start with an unfaithful wife, nor will it end with a faithful one.

Would you really be happy in jail?—H

DEAR HELEN:

How do you handle your wife's ex-husband who insists on being friends? When he stops in to see his children, he stays for dinner and spends the evening. He still depends on my wife for major decisions (one of the reasons for their divorce) and she "doesn't want to hurt his feelings," so she helps him work out his problems.

I am not jealous. There's no need for that. I just don't want him underfoot. Am I being unreasonable?—THREE'S A CROWD

DEAR THREE:

No! This man may never look for a new life as long as he has a former wife to "mother" him. Tell her this is carrying a friendly divorce too far!—H

DEAR HELEN:

Is it wrong to ask a close friend to replace an expensive record her little boy broke? This isn't the first time. She thinks he's old enough to work the stereo, and I was too late to stop him.

I got tired of this breakage so I suggested she buy a new record, and I haven't seen her since. I thought I was quite tactful about it.

Should I call her up and apologize for being mercenary of dun her again for the record? Half my friends say yes to the first, and half to the second.—SIX MONTHS SILENCE

DEAR SIX:

How about the third alternative?—Forget it.

An apology you don't mean would only make you more resentful, and a dun would get you nowhere. Who needs this kind of "record-breaking" friendship?—H

DEAR HELEN:

"Shocked Straight" asked, "How can my nice suburban friends who seem so normal go in for mate-swapping?" She'd be amazed at the number—and types—of people who swing: professors, doctors, contractors, engineers, nurses, hairdressers, housewives, people from all walks of life.

My husband I have been swinging for over a year now and we have a closer and more honest relationship than most straight couples. Of course there must first be a very stable bond, with deep trust and much love. A healthy, uninhibited marriage should be made stronger by sharing its joys with friends.—HONEST SWINGER

DEAR SWINGER:

Different trips for different "hips."

Seems to me you swingers limit yourselves to one pursuit when the varied joys of social intercourse have so many more possibilities.

In fact, a good fast doubles games of tennis is also, "healthy, uninhibited"—and it lasts longer!—H.

Braves fire Harris

ATLANTA (AP) — Luman Harris was fired today by the Atlanta Braves and replaced as manager of the National League baseball club by Eddie Mathews, owner Bill Bartholomay announced.

Mathews, 40, was in his second season as coach with the Braves. The former slugging third baseman, who retired as a player in 1968, takes over the club immediately.

A spokesman for the Braves here read a statement from Bartholomay in Cincinnati where the Braves are concluding a five-game series tonight.

"After careful evaluation, director of player personnel Eddie Robinson strongly recommended a change had to be made."

EARLY WYNN

YOGI BERRA

SANDY KOUFAX

Hall of Fame adds new names

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Baseball's Hall of Fame opened its doors today to pitcher Sandy Koufax and Early Wynn, catcher Yogi Berra and five other great names from the past.

The eight new entries were officially inducted into the shrine in ceremonies near the National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum while thousands of fans watched the annual mid-summer pageant.

Along with Koufax, Wynn and Berra, pitcher Lefty Gomez and first baseman Buck Leonard were on hand to receive the honor. Three of the new members were honored posthumously—outfielder Ross Youngs, American League President Will Harridge and catcher Josh Gibson.

Koufax, the youngest player ever to make the Hall at 36, retired prematurely from baseball because of an arthritic left arm. But before leaving the Los Angeles Dodgers, he established himself as the best pitcher in the game from 1962 through 1966.

Once he was able to harness his fastball and curve, the boy from Brooklyn dominated the National League. He led the senior circuit in earned run average those last five seasons, winning the Cy Young Award three times and Most Valuable Player once.

Koufax struck out 300 batters or more three times, including a record 382 in 1965, and pitched four no-hitters, also a record.

McDaniel leads West to victory

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — James McDaniel of Morrilton scored the West's only touchdown Saturday night, but that proved to be enough to upset the East 7-6 in the Arkansas High School All-Star football game here.

McDaniel, who is bound for Arkansas Tech, got the West on the scoreboard first when he plunged one yard for a touchdown with 10:19 in the second quarter. Jimmy Casto of Rogers added what proved to be the winning point.

While Koufax was the golden arm of the Dodgers, Berra was a golden bat for the New York Yankees. The Yankee catcher had a modest .285 lifetime batting average, but was one of the game's best clutch hitters.

Five times he drove in 100 or more runs and in his 18-year career, he walloped 358 homers. He was also known as an instinctive catcher and peerless handler of pitchers.

Wynn had waited several years for his election to the Hall, despite an amazing career record of 300 victories with the Washington Senators, Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox.

He was frankly annoyed at having been bypassed earlier. "I was disappointed the first year and disappointed the second year. The third year I just shrugged it off."

Yanks sweep doubleheader

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
SPARKY Lyle, left-handed pitcher, New York Yankees, felt something pop Sunday but it turned out to be only a scare.

Denny Riddleberger, left-handed pitcher, Cleveland Indians, heard something pop and it turned out to be the late-inning home run bats of Detroit's Willie Horton and Mickey Stanley.

When all the popping was done, the third-place Yankees had swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee 3-0 and 6-4 in 10 innings while the Tigers, four games ahead of the Yanks atop the American League East, had salvaged a 1-2, 6-5 split with Cleveland that set up a key four-game series beginning Tuesday in New York.

Elsewhere, Baltimore battered Boston 11-2, Oakland downed Minnesota 6-3 in 13 innings but dropped the nightcap 5-1, the Chicago White Sox took two from Texas 10-1 and 7-1 and California swept Kansas City 4-3 and 3-2.

In the National League, Atlanta edged Cincinnati 4-3 in 10 innings, Houston beat San Francisco 7-3 before losing 6-2, Los Angeles blanked San Diego 6-0, Pittsburgh won a pair from Montreal 8-0 and 7-2, the New York Mets bombed the Chicago Cubs 12-2 and St. Louis shut out Philadelphia 6-0.

John Ellis had socked a two-run homer and Steve Kline had hurled eight scoreless innings against Milwaukee when New York skipper Ralph Houk signaled for Lyle to start the ninth and almost regretted it when his relief ace seemed to be in pain following a pitch.

"I caught my spikes on the back of the mound and I felt something pop," Lyle said. "There was no pain or anything and it was down in the lower part of my back, but for a few seconds I didn't want to throw the ball."

"I saw him stumble and raise his arm," said Houk with a sigh of relief, "so I went out to see if he was okay. He said he was and he proved it."

Lyle proved it by notching his 24th save and then coming back to hurl two scoreless innings to win the nightcap as the Yankees rallied in the late innings. Trailing 4-2 after Tommy Reynolds belted a three-run homer for the Brewers in the first inning, New York got a run-scoring single from Jerry Kenney in the eighth and a game-tying homer from Bernie Allen in the ninth.

Kenney then opened the 10th with a single, stole second with two out and scored on Thurman Munson's single. Bobby Murcer doubled home an insurance run.

After the morning induction ceremonies, the Yankees played the Dodgers in the annual Hall of Fame game.

Leonard and Gibson were stars of the old Negro League, an organization of blacks that existed prior to the breaking of the color line in the majors in 1947. They'll be inducted into a special wing of the Hall honoring players of that league.

Youngs, a flashy base runner for the old New York Giants, was described by Manager John McGraw as a mini-version of Ty Cobb. He produced a .322 lifetime batting average before dying of Bright's disease in 1927, a year after he completed his 10th season in the majors.

Harridge, who died last year, was president of the American League for almost 28 years — from 1931 to 1959. He guided the circuit through the trying depression years into the explosive 1950s and was one of the most successful of all baseball presidents.

Spassky beats Fischer

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Defender Boris Spassky played his best game of the world chess championships Sunday, beating American Bobby Fischer for the first time since the opener of their match in July.

Spassky's convincing victory boosted the Russian champion's sagging prestige and narrowed Fischer's lead after 11 games to 6½-4½. Spassky needs 12 points to keep his world title, Fischer 12½ to unseat him.

The crowd in Reykjavik's sports hall, American tourists included, rooted for Spassky, but Fischer was still favored to topple the Russian in the games to come. They meet again Tuesday.

The 29-year-old Brooklyn, N.Y., challenger looked tense and discouraged in the final stages of Sunday's game. But he was relaxed and smiling when he returned to his hotel a few hours later.

Spassky, playing the white chessmen, had the opening move Sunday. It was pawn to king four, a more aggressive opening than the pawn to queen four that he usually opened with against Fischer. Fischer arrived three minutes late. He took the game into the Sicilian defense, which he played to a draw against Spassky in the seventh game, when the champion was also playing white.

As in the seventh game, Fischer accepted a poisoned pawn sacrifice offered by Spassky. Experts say this is highly dangerous for the player with the black pieces, and this time "Spassky was evidently well prepared," grandmaster Isaac Kashdan said in an analysis of the game for The Associated Press. "It is doubtful that Fischer will ever again capture the poison pawn in an important contest."

Spassky's 14th move was a novel one. He retreated his knight to threaten Fischer's queen. Yugoslav grandmaster Svetozar Gligoric said that this showed Spassky had "found the solution he had been unable to find in 12 years" and mastered the Sicilian defense. "Now, even if he loses the championship — and he probably will — Spassky will no longer go home humiliated," Gligoric added.

Aaron breaks club record

By ALEX SACHARE
Hank Aaron broke Babe Ruth's home run record Sunday.

No, not THAT record. Aaron clubbed two home runs, including the game-winning shot in the 10th inning, lifting the Atlanta Braves to a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

His first homer was No. 660 for his illustrious career, the most ever hit by one player with one team. Ruth had held the record, having belted 659 with the New York Yankees.

But Aaron downplayed his achievement, preferring to look ahead—to that other record.

"This club record does not have too much significance for me," declared the 38-year-old slugger, who came up with the Milwaukee Braves in 1954.

"That 714 is still the big one to me—or maybe 715."

Ruth, of course, holds the major league homer record of 714, having hit 659 with the Yankees plus 55 more with the Boston Braves and Boston Red Sox.

Aaron's pair against the Reds boosted his season total to 22 and his career figure to 661, just 53 short of the Babe.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from Montreal 8-0 and 7-2; Houston and San Francisco split a pair, the Astros taking the opener 7-3 and the Giants winning the nightcap 6-2; the New York Mets clubbed the Chicago Cubs 12-2, and Los Angeles blanked San Diego and St. Louis zipped Philadelphia, both by 6-0 scores.

In the American League, the New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee 3-0 and 6-4, the second game 3-0 and 6-4, the second game going 10 innings; the Chicago White Sox took two from Texas, 10-1 and 7-1; California swept Kansas City 4-3 and 3-2; Detroit and Cleveland split, the Indians winning the first game 2-1 and the Tigers the second 6-5; Oakland split a pair with Minnesota, the A's winning 6-3 in a 13-inning first game and the Twins winning the second 5-1, and Baltimore walloped Boston 11-2 in the lone American League single game.

Aaron hit a solo homer off starting pitcher Wayne Simpson, a right-hander, in the fourth to give Atlanta a 3-0 lead.

After the Reds tied the score in the sixth on singles by Joe Morgan, Bobby Tolan and Johnny Bench and Tony Perez' two-run double, Aaron hit his game-winning, a solo shot with two-out in the 10th off lefty reliever Don Gullett.

"It was a fast ball," the Hammer said. "All he threw me was fast balls, so I was looking for a fast ball on that pitch. Gullett was throwing the ball real good, but I just got around on the pitch."

Another slugger who "got around" on a pitch—or, more precisely, three pitches—was Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell.

Stargell hit three home runs in the Bucs' twin-bill, driving in six runs and taking over the major league RBI lead with 86. He also had a single and three walks, reaching base safely seven times out of eight trips to the plate.

RANGER JIM MARTIN

'Ranger Jim' is guest at Hope Rotary Club

"Man and His Environment" was discussed by "Ranger Jim" Martin of the state Department of Education when the Hope Rotary Club met at the Town and Country for its weekly luncheon meeting on Friday, August 4. Various kinds of pollution are a threat to man's survival. They include air, water, noise, solid waste, and over-population.

Many facts about air, water and noise pollution came as no surprise, but some were amazed to learn that there is an average of 560 pounds of waste paper per person every year in the United States and six pounds per day of all kinds of solid waste. The increase in population could produce a pollution of people if it is not brought under control, the club was told. This problem is also the reason why it is important for greater agricultural production to be done on less space.

In conclusion, the speaker told ways mankind can survive and civilization can be saved by using care and common sense in the treatment of facilities given by God and created by man. President Bob Roberts welcomed the club members and two guests, G. D. Royston, Jr. and George Smith.

Olympic swimmers set new records

CHICAGO (AP) — The rain that fell on the final freestyle events in the U.S. Olympic Swim Trials was not about to dampen the spirits of Peter Daland and Sherm Chavoor.

"This has to be the best balanced team we have ever had," said Chavoor as he surveyed the 27-member women's squad he will coach Aug. 26-Sept. 10 in Munich. Five members of the team, which begins workouts today in Knoxville, Tenn., had set world records during the five days of trials at Chicago's Portage Park.

"This team of ours is better than either the 1964 or the 1968 teams," said Daland, coach of the 24-member men's squad, which set six more world marks.

"But I wouldn't want to start predicting that we'll return with more medals than those two teams did," he said, "because the foreign competition has gotten much better, too."

Rain or shine, the records fell during the trials.

Before the final day's competition, Mark Spitz had captured world marks in the men's 100 and 200-meter butterfly and 100-meter freestyle. John Hencken set one in the 100-meter breaststroke, and Gary Hall in the 400 individual medley.

For the women, through Sunday, marks had been broken by Jennifer Kemp in the 100-meter freestyle, by Deena Dearuff in the 100 butterfly and by Melissa Belotte in the 200 backstroke.

And even with Spitz taking photographs of his teammates from the sidelines Sunday, three more records fell.

Rick DeMont slashed more than four seconds off the world mark in the 1,500-meter freestyle, clocking 15:52.91. The old record was held by John Kinsella of Hinsdale, Ill., who finished sixth Sunday.

Jo Harshbarger, a 19-year-old from Bellevue, Wash., continued the free-style swimming that the U.S. women's team hopes will dethrone Shane Gould of Australia.

Miss Harshbarger trimmed

four seconds from the 800 freestyle record with an 8:53.83 performance. As she made the final turn, she had outdistanced the eight-girl field by almost 40 yards.

The third world mark of the day was set by Karen Moe of Santa Clara, Calif. in the 200-meter women's butterfly.

Miss Moe, who later said she "thought it would take a world record to win" was timed in 2:16.62, bettering the mark of 2:18.4 set by Ellie Daniel of Philadelphia.

Gary Hall, who swam with Spitz in the 1968 Olympics in Mexico and was his teammate at Indiana University, matched the world mark in the 200-meter individual medley. Hall, of Garden Grove, Calif., was clocked in 2:09.3 and won his third Olympic berth.

Earlier in the meet, Hall broke his own world record in the 400-meter individual medley.

Spaniards fear Solomon

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — The United States, defending Davis Cup champions, primed its one-two punch of Stan Smith and Harold Solomon to wipe out Spain today in the windup of the interzone tennis semifinals.

And of the two, it may be the youthful, pint-sized Solomon with his baseball-bat swing that puts it away.

The 19-year-old from Silver Springs, Md., clearly has puzzled the Spaniards and probably is more feared than Smith, the 1972 Wimbledon champ and No. 1 in the United States.

"I frankly confess: Solomon I don't understand," said Spain's veteran Juan Gisbert after Solomon put him down.

Another veteran, Andres Gimeno, meets Solomon in the first singles match today with the United States holding a 2-1 lead after its doubles victory over Spain Sunday.

A victory by Solomon over Gimeno, 35, would wrap it all up.

Smith teamed with Erik Van Dillen of San Mateo, Calif., to give the U.S. team a powerful edge by defeating Gimeno and Gisbert Sunday 6-3, 6-6, 6-2 6-3.

Smith and Gisbert meet in the final singles match following the Solomon-Gimeno confrontation.

Player captures second PGA crown

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — Gary Player, one of golf's mighty mites, has mastered The Monster and suddenly recouped his fading prestige.

Four months ago, Player was eating humble pie after pulling within a stroke of the lead in the Greensboro Open heading into the final round, then being disqualified for not signing his scorecard, which read 67.

Today the crewcut South African is the new Professional Golf Association national champion and $45,000 richer. His second PGA title, his first coming in 1962, will probably reinforce the belief that he is one of golf's "Big Three" along with Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino.

"It just goes to show you what a humbling game golf is," said the 5-foot-8, 159-pound Player on Sunday. "But it all seems to even out."

Player harnessed a balky putter on the key holes down the stretch to salvage a two-over-par 72, destroying Jimmy Jamieson's dream of glory and finishing with 281 for 72 holes — one-over-par at the 7,054-yard Oakland Hills Country Club south course, dubbed "The Monster" by Ben Hogan in 1951.

FACTS

The electric eel is a South American freshwater fish which is the largest and most potent of the electric fishes. The World Almanac notes that it can discharge more than 600 volts of electricity, enough shocking power, according to authorities, to stun or even kill a large-sized animal or a man.

NO CONTEST
ISTANBUL (AP)—Only one person cast his vote in recent municipal elections for the post of headman at Catili, a village in northern Turkey.

The sole vote was the incumbent headman. He said he was "very disappointed" at the turnout.

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Oswald: "Now that you and Bobby Wolff and Bobby Goldman have added the World's mixed team championship to your two open World titles it might be nice to run some hands from the matches."

Jim: "Haven't you put the card before the horse? A mixed team is usually just as strong as the female half and full credit should go to Betsy Wolff, Heidi Noland of Lake Charles, Louisiana, and Nancy Alpaugh of New Orleans, who really carried us through. Here is a hand played by Heidi."

Oswald: "It doesn't look as though there was much play to the hand. All Heidi had to do was draw trumps and set up dummy's fifth heart for the 13th trick."

Jim: "I guess I should have said 'bid,' not 'played.' She certainly bid decisively to get to the grand slam. The other North-South pair barely staggered into six."

Oswald: "The difference between six and seven was 500 points, which is worth 11 IMPs. The grand slam was well worth bidding since it would make against any 3-3 or 4-2 break in hearts or if one opponent held five hearts and at least four diamonds."

Jim: "Right. In that case the man with all those red cards would be caught in a squeeze."

Oil wells are declining in United States

HOUSTON (AP) — The number of producing oil wells in the United States continues to decline.

The nation had 512,471 producing wells at the end of 1971, compared with 566,869 five years earlier and with the all-time high of 617,057 at the end of 1961.

The decline is a result of a sharp domestic drilling operations slump that has plagued the industry since 1966. The number of new producing wells has fallen far short of depleted and abandoned wells.

Domestic operators completely only 27,835 wells last year compared with a record 58,160 in 1966. Current trends indicate 1972 operations will show some improvement over the 1971 level.

Huge blocks of leases were abandoned as the prolonged drilling slump gained momentum. This trend was reversed, however, in 1968 and operators have increased their holdings gradually.

At the end of 1971, the domestic industry had 350.7 productive and non-productive acres under lease, compared with 324.9 million at the end of 1967 and with the record high of 424.2 million acres at the end of 1969.

The year-end 1971 reports on producing wells and acreage leases are in the new edition of "The Oil Producing Industry in Your State," an annual publication distributed by the Independent Petroleum Association of America. The booklet includes a statistical history of operations for each of the 32 states with oil and gas production.

The new edition makes no direct reference to developing oil and gas shortages but reports that, despite record demand, the United States has yet to be discovered reserves that are estimated to be more than adequate to satisfy national requirements for the foreseeable future.

The 2,222,312 wells drilled since 1859, the booklet reports, have discovered 143 billion barrels of liquid petroleum reserves and 667 trillion cubic feet of natural gas reserves, excluding Alaska's North Slope area.

Production depleted these reserves by the end of 1971 to 27.9 billion barrels of oil and 247.4 trillion cubic feet of gas, excluding Alaska. Actual 1971 production exceeded 3.2 billion barrels of oil and 22 trillion cubic feet of gas.

The number of producing wells and the total acreage under lease have declined sharply in Texas since 1959.

Texas had 174,207 producing oil wells at the end of 1971, compared to 188,821 in 1967 and 190,905 at the end of 1959. Texas leases totaled 42.9 million acres at the end of last year, compared with 59.5 million in 1967 and 79.1 million in 1959.

Operations also have declined in Louisiana, runnerup to Texas as the nation's top producing state.

Producing oil wells in Louisiana totaled 25,750 at year-end 1971, compared with 30,946 in 1967 and 26,309 in 1959. Louisiana leases totaled 7.3 million acres last year, compared with 10.7 million five years earlier and 12.5 million in 1959.

Capt. Thomas C. Jones, son of Mrs. Kathryn Jones of Hope, recently completed a 23-week Army Medical Department Officer Dares Course at the U.S. Army Medical Field Service School, Brooke Army Medical Center, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Students are trained in the duties and responsibilities of army medical service officers. Instruction included organization and administration of medical units, command and staff procedures, hospital management and courses related to medical services.

Capt. Jones entered the army in 1965 and was last stationed at the University of Arkansas. He holds the combat medical badge, two awards of the Bronze Star Medal and the Army Commendation Medal.

The Captain was graduated from Hope High School in 1961 and received a BS Degree from Henderson State College, Arkadelphia, in 1965.

Knapp Commission finds 'corruption'

NEW YORK (AP) — A special commission reports finding "widespread corruption" in a two-year probe of the New York City police department and recommends appointment of a special deputy state attorney general to root out corruption among policemen, prosecutors and judges.

The Knapp Commission said in a report Sunday that it found graft ranging from well-organized, monthly gambling payoffs to narcotics "scores" of as much as $80,000 to small but numerous payments to uniformed patrolmen from construction sites, bars and businesses.

The commission urged Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to appoint a special prosecutor to head a new, independent watchdog agency "staffed by persons wholly unconnected with the police department" to investigate and prosecute "all crimes involving corruption in the criminal process."

Neither the public nor honest policemen feel they can trust the city district attorney's offices or investigating commission to handle the job, it said. All those agencies rely on policemen to do the legwork and New Yorkers "just don't trust policemen to investigate each other."

The five-man special commission headed by Whitman Knapp, a Wall Street lawyer since recommended for the federal bench, also advocated these reforms:

- Repeal of antigambling laws and laws barring certain business activities on Sunday to reduce the exposure of policemen to potentially corrupting situations.
- Relieving policemen from enforcing the laws covering construction activities, tow truck operations, bars, nightclubs and businesses. "It is ridiculous to have an armed police officer wasting his time checking restaurant washrooms to find out whether they are properly supplied with soap," the report said.
- Creation of an independent anticorruption group within the police department in which an officer might spend his entire career.

There were also recommendations for more than 30 administrative steps within the department.
